Palmdale City Library to Start a Performance Collective

PALMDALE—The Palmdale City Library is looking for creative, critical and committed participants who are willing to create dynamic and nontraditional performances for diverse audiences as part of a new Performance Collective.

Under the direction of Joe Martinez, the Performance Collective is open to individuals 18 years and older who are looking to make friends and redefine creativity and social re-commitment here in the city of Palmdale. Experimenting with nontraditional movements, visuals, sounds, writing and performance, performers will be given the space and time to channel their civic imaginations. The Collective's performers will learn to communicate common goals through compassionate and critical modes of performance.

Interested persons are encouraged to fill out an application as soon as possible. Applications are available at the Palmdale City Library, located at 700 E. Palmdale Blvd.

Martinez is a graduate student in the Communication Studies program at California State University, Northridge (CSUN), with an emphasis in performance, language and cultural studies.

“What are your dreams and visions for your world? What are your fears? What are your hopes?” asks Director Martinez. “Performers are creators, builders of their world.”

The Palmdale City Library is open seven days a week. Hours of operation are Monday through Thursday from 10 am to 8 pm; Friday and Saturday from 10 am to 5 pm; and Sunday from 1 to 5 pm.

For more information, please call the Palmdale City Library at 661/267-5600 or TDD 267-5167, or visit www.cityofpalmdale.org/library.
